

How Holistic Planned Grazing Differs from Rotational Grazing

Richard J. King; USDA-NRCS; Contact Author Email: Richard.King@ca.usda.gov

Holistic planned grazing continues to be confused with a variety of grazing systems and rotational grazing. Even a recent synthesis article addressing the experimental evidence of various forms of rotational grazing published January 2008 in Rangeland Ecology and Management 61:3-17 continues the confusion. Key differences between holistic planned grazing and that of other grazing planning strategies are outlined in this poster paper. Readily available, simple, and inexpensive references are listed that describe in detail both the principles and step-by-step processes for developing a sound grazing plan.

2009. 62nd Society for Range Management Annual Meeting. Paper No. 2030-3.